

Amcor are a global leader in packaging solutions for consumer and healthcare products. With industry-leading innovation capabilities, global scale and technical expertise, they meet the needs of millions of consumers every day.

The challenge: supporting payroll complexity at scale

When Amcor began searching for a payroll solution for the UK operation, they needed a provider that could support the realities of a large, complex organisation. The payroll environment included multiple sites, different conditions of service, varied pay rates and diverse payroll requirements. The business therefore needed a flexible, reliable system capable of working consistently across the entire UK workforce.

Finding one solution that could meet these needs was a challenge. Amcor required software that combined reliability and ease of use with strong functionality, value for money and dependable support. Following an evaluation, they found Frontier Software met those needs.

The solution: A trusted long-term choice

After many years of use, Amcor continues to view the solution as the right fit for their business.

A single, stable and user-friendly platform helps Amcor manage payroll consistently across a complex, multi-site workforce. The result is a payroll team providing a reliable service to employees, supported by quick and easy access to accurate reporting when it matters most.

For the payroll team, the benefits are practical and immediate. Integration between systems, robust reporting and responsive support all contribute to smoother day-to-day working. Allan Scott, Payroll Manager explains: "Good integration of systems, reporting and an excellent support desk make our working life easier every day."

Just as importantly, the partnership gives Amcor confidence that when challenges arise, support is readily available from a team that understands their business. Payroll Manager, Allan adds "Frontier Software's people make the difference... knowing I can pick up the phone and get a quick answer when needed gives us peace of mind."

For an organisation with complex payroll needs, the result is a trusted solution that delivers stability, confidence and support where it counts.

"Good integration of systems, reporting and an excellent support desk makes our working life easier every day."
